SUMMARY OF QUALIFICATIONS

I am a professor at the BRAC James P. Grant School of Public Health (JPGSPH), BRAC University. I am also co-director of the Centre of Excellence for Urban Equity and Health (CUEH) at JPGSPH, BRAC University. I have more than 13 years of teaching and research experience. I teach Biostatistics (MPH 521) and Population Health Informatics (MPH 621) in the Master of Public Health (MPH) Programme at JPGSPH, BRAC University. In addition to teaching, I am currently leading several research and capacity development projects as the Principal Investigator/Country Lead. I hold a PhD from the University of Queensland, Australia, and a Master of Science degree in Applied Statistics from the University of Dhaka. My research work mostly focuses on maternal and child health, sexual and reproductive health and rights, urban environment and health, adolescent health, stigma and discrimination against people living with HIV/AIDS, and the health and well-being of vulnerable population groups such as people with disabilities. I have expertise in advanced statistical analysis, mixed methods research, evaluation research, longitudinal study, and spatial epidemiological research. I have been awarded research grants as PI/Co-PI from multiple organizations, including the World Bank, World Health Organization (WHO), International Development Research Centre (IDRC) Canada, Open Society Foundations, and the Dutch Government.
